Dying for her love – a love diary

Final Lap

My angel, I must admit it is only through the power of your love that I have been able to maintain through these past few weeks. I have been strong because I know I must be strong for us. I have taken a small beating physically, mentally and spiritually but I do know what I must do to get on track, regain focus. I wake up today and the sky is clear, there is a light breeze and some soft sunlight coming through my window. I am slowly returning to my center. I am challenging head on any resistance. In a few days I know my physical body will fully recover and then my mind and at last, my spiritual body.

You have shown yourself to me in a short time, through your wisdom and dedication what a strong love can feel like. You are lead by your spirit, and I follow you like a treasure map. A sweet person like yourself with a soft nature, you really have a lot to offer from inside of you with your love power. I will drink your love ravenously to quench my drained essence.

I can never let you go. There is a feeling in me of being on the final lap through life and being in the know that this is it. The search is over, life is complete. It is an eerie feeling of a different plane of love. I followed my heart and it guided me correctly to you regardless of the paths of destination. All happens with reason, I know this. I acknowledge and accept this. This is the way it should be when you have faith and "let go". I thank the divine for bringing your being in my life, for putting us together in the flow for gifting me with passionate expression. Baby we know we have both been through some unimaginable things and events at exponential speed, and thus it has secured our union, our hope and faith in love and life. Lets us walk in the blessings and become the core of love. Love is forever!

Dying for her love – a love diary

By JD Lovewell

I Love U More

I must say my angel, my day went well. I had you in every thought and every step of the way.. I couldn't help to wonder if u were ok, in good spirits and smiling. You know I miss u and being with u I wouldn't want to miss a thing.

I love you my angel, only time can tell how much, and believe me it is more than u think u feel. It is even more than I could show. I feel for you in ways more than I can type on this pc screen and more than words can fill this blog.

I love u more than the infinite stars shining in the night sky and more than the moon can glow.

I love u more than the thoughts that I can think, love u more than my eyes can blink. I love u more than the air I breathe; I love you more than my heart can beat.

I love u more than the mountains high, I love u more and I'm telling you why... because I want to make sure feel, that my love for you is more than real!

Do Not Forget Why

My Angel, since knowing you, loving you and being with you, I have uncovered qualities in you which I am found of. There is a beauty in you that you may not [Photo] have recognized or any one may have not recognized. My feelings for you do not flow like shallow rivers, but surges in an immeasurable extent preoccupied with details of you.

Dying for her love – a love diary

By JD Lovewell

My angel you are calmness to me. You have a way of reflecting negativity and not letting thoughts of an adverse nature enter your mind. You always understand the good in a situation and you view the hearts of others in an indubitable way.

You move freely as a liquid with the grace of your body and how you tread the path of life. You do not over-contemplate issues but rather unknowingly to yourself exercise the will of letting go. I recognize this as an admiral quality in you and wish to imitate its model and become it.

You have absolute certainty in the way you love that cannot be shaken. You are unknowingly not easily shaken, you are secure in your own belief holding fast to our love protecting it at all cost because you have always romantically known its true value. You are love, you see love you become love and I thank you for giving me this love.

I think at times it maybe still unbelievable to me that someone sweet and angelic as you can love me. People like you do not exist. I must hold on to you at all cost and be with you at all risk. I am a person who knows what I want. I have always wanted a love like yours. I have you engraved on my heart long before I set eyes on you because the universe told me to hold and have confidence in what my thoughts were telling me and leading me. All roads lead to you my love; you are the music in my hearts. You are the words that I speak, the lyrics that I write.

Baby my heart loves and needs you, do not forget. See past my mind and know deep inside the extent my feelings and emotions are for you. You encourage me; you believe in me, you know me. You are my angel I love you because you guide me. I would be lost without you and you lost without me. We are destiny, we are truth let this be reason you need to know why I love you above all else. When you forget why I love you, read again all my sonnets, poems, songs, lyrics, essays and thoughts of you... you are an angel to me!

Read me every day. When you awake and before you slumber. Keep me in your heart. Know me inside as I know you. Know my Love forever.

My Time with You

I want to take my time with you.

Dying for her love – a love diary

By JD Lovewell

Wake up with a tear in my eye of you.
Cause we could make love forever more
Make love that continues from the night before
The kind that's hot and makes blankets wet
The juice of our love combines with the sweat.

Because we get so passionate, like it isn't safe
I start chasing you all over the place
Cause you shiver in fear from the things that I've done
But you like what I do to your body, we're one!

Between you and me there's no need for words
What we do to each other we know it's unheard
Like pampering showers, and singing to morn
I'm killing you softly that small frame of yours

I'll carry you here, and then I'll pull you to there
You facing the mirror, I'm grabbing your hair
I'm thrusting you left, I'm thrusting you right
You can't take all of me, so u put up a fight

I want you so bad, deep in you I must
So we move to the couch, you sit down and thrust
But the pain you can't bear so we move to the bed
So I take you from behind cause I like that instead

But you like it too, and you're moaning to me
Yes, right there, give it to me
Then I look in your eyes and feel I may come
And turn mine away cause in no way I'm done
I want you so bad but I face what I see
That its soul making love and it's so heavenly
And it's cool what we do; you're an angel to me
You are the divine in all that I seek
